OCA Accepting Applications for 2012 Summer Internship Program

The Organization of Chinese Americans (OCA), a national organization headquartered in Washington, D.C., is dedicated to advancing the political, social, and economic well-being of all Asian Pacific Americans (APAs). Currently, it is accepting applications for its prestigious 2012 Summer Internship Program from now until March 12, 2012, offering the opportunity for local representation of Asian Pacific Americans at a national level.

Celebrating its 23rd year, the OCA Internship Program seeks to cultivate future leadership by providing students from all over the country an opportunity to be involved in the political process through one of the largest national advocacy organizations for APAs. The program has successfully led past interns to become more actively involved in their college campuses and joined the growing movement of APA leadership at the cross section of government, nonprofits, and business.

Participants enjoy placement in a paid internship that matches their backgrounds and interests with federal agencies, nonprofit organizations, congressional offices, and corporations – including placements at the OCA National Center. In addition to their work assignments, summer interns will be heavily involved in variety of activities and programming including direct advocacy for critical issues faced by APAs on the Hill. The OCA Internship Program can provide the opportunity to truly experience Washington, D.C. – meeting members of Congress, national leaders in the AAPI community, and other AAPI interns from across the country and discover how organizations like OCA advocate for the APA community at the national level.

In addition to connecting interns with the APA community and developing their leadership skills, summer interns are invited to take part in the OCA National Convention. This year's National Convention will take place in Las Vegas, Nevada from August 2 – 5 at Planet Hollywood Resort and Casino. The Convention will feature inspirational speakers, thrilling entertainment, numerous workshops, and our signature gala to celebrate the impactful and pioneering achievements of community leaders.

Interns are expected to commit to working full-time for ten weeks between the dates of May 28 – August 17, 2012. (Participation in the National Convention is mandatory and applicants are strongly encouraged to make sure they are able to attend.) Applications will be reviewed by the Internship Committee and a telephone interview will be scheduled for qualified applicants.

For more information on the OCA Summer Internship and to apply, go to OCA's website at www.oconational.org and click "Internship" under "Programs." Click here to take you directly to the online application form. Applications and all materials need to be submitted by March 12, 2012.
